

THE KIRSTY CROWE BURSARY

Description

The Kirsty Crowe Bursary is named after Kirsty Crowe, who was an aboriginal woman and teacher, who died tragically young. Kirsty had a fine reputation as a teacher in Geraldton and was committed to the ideals of education for young people.

Detail

There will be two bursaries awarded annually to indigenous students wishing to enrol at Nagle Catholic College and that will be for the duration of their studies at the College, from Year 7 through to Year 12 or at the point of entry through to Year 12.

Eligibility

For a student to be accepted for this Bursary, they must demonstrate a positive academic standing through their School Reports. Their application should also be accompanied by a recommendation from their current school Principal. For a family to be considered for this award, the family needs to hold a Health Care Card/Pensioner Concession Card.

Benefit

This Bursary will cover all fees and charges for the students for the duration of their enrolment at the College. The College will cover the cost textbooks from the Booklist each year and one set of summer and winter uniforms in the first year.

Application

Applications need to be forwarded to the Principal, with supporting documentation, by 31 October in the year prior to entry.
